(01 Sep 2022-30 June 2023) Visiting Researcher in Demography with scholarship, Centre for Economic Demography, Department of Economic History, University of Lund, Sweden.

Tutor: Prof Martin Dribe.

Project: Men's fertility and its determinants: a comparative study across some European countries, concerning the identification of similarities and differences between fertility from a male perspective in four countries (France, Italy, Germany, and Sweden) with different demographic, family policies and gender equality characteristics. The project uses data from the Generations and Gender Survey and explores the peculiarities of family welfare measures targeting fathers and their impact on national fertility rates.

Scholarship record no. 0012693 of 09 February 2023.

https://web.uniroma1.it/trasparenza/sites/default/files/Dr%20con%20graduatorie%20integrate.pdf

(Jan-Dec 2023) Principal Investigator of the Sapienza University Starting Grant Male fertility and gender stereotypes.

Project: Starting from the Gender Revolution and from the observation that greater equality between men and women in the family as well as in the workplace does not necessarily produce an increase in fertility rates, the study aims to contribute to the explanation of the falling birth rate in Italy by analysing the male side of the issue. By linking the male fertility of Generation Y or Millennials (fathers born between 1981 and 2000), the socio-economic characteristics of these fathers and their respective households, their access to family support measures, and their perception of gender stereotypes, the study also aims to compensate for the lack of data that take all these factors into account simultaneously, recognising the central (and not yet fully addressed) role of stereotypes towards men as one of the significant obstacles to gender equality inside and outside the family in Italy.

www.mindthegeps.eu - www.irpps.cnr.it/en/mind-the-geps/

Primary responsibilities: for the CNR team, the data collection and statistical analysis of the CNR research employees from a gender perspective aimed at writing the GEP. Specifically,

- Planning, collecting and analysing data for mapping the gender situation regarding the following thematic areas within CNR: governance, recruitment and progression of permanent and temporary research staff, research activities, and work-life balance to identify information gaps to be filled by further surveys;
- Planning, management and subsequent data analysis of a quantitative survey (online questionnaire) on CNR permanent and temporary research staff from a gender perspective to i) reconstruct the professional career histories, ii) the typologies of organisations in which professional careers have been built, iii) staff perception about gender-related stereotypes and biases and iv) personal perception about the working environment;
- Creation of a comprehensive database for the institution, combining data from administrative sources (currently separated in different databases) and integrating them with the online questionnaire;
- Planning the qualitative analysis design (interviewees) – sampling, interview outlines, data collection grid, identification of the analysis methodology – with decision-making bodies and CNR research staff.

(15 May 2020-14 Apr 2021) Research Fellow in Social Statistics, Institute for Research on Population and Social Policies - National Research Council (CNR-IRPPS), Rome, Italy.

Heads: Dr Sveva Avveduto, Dr Lucio Pisacane (CNR-IRPPS).

Project #1: member of GETA – Observatory on GEnder and TAlents. Investigating gender issues among researchers in academia.

www.irpps.cnr.it/en/cose/geta-2/

Project #2: member of Gender Budget group. Preparation and context study for drafting and defining the first CNR Gender Budget.

Primary responsibilities: the quantitative and multivariate analysis of the CNR administrative data under a gender perspective; the comparisons at the European level through EU data; the creation of gendered-structural indices.

(11 Nov 2019-11 Feb 2020) Research Fellow in Social Statistics, Institute for Research on Population and Social Policies - National Research Council (IRPPS - CNR), Rome, Italy.

Head: Dr Maura Misiti (CNR-IRPPS).

Project: ViVa – Monitoring, assessment and analysis of the measures to prevent and fight violence against women, funded by the Italian Presidency of the Council of Ministers – Department for Equal Opportunities (DEO). Statistical analysis of the first national survey on the specialist and general services (i.e. anti-violence centres and shelter/hosting facilities) in support of the victims of gender-based violence active in Italy according to the regulations in force.

https://viva.cnr.it/en

Primary responsibilities:

- Merging and harmonising databases from two surveys on anti-violence centres and shelter/hosting facilities in Italy (2017);
- Quantitative and multivariate analysis of shelter/hosting facilities data;
- Design and implement an index to measure the adherence of anti-violence centres' characteristics, structural features and interventions to legal requirements (State-Regions Conference 2014 and Istanbul Convention 2011).

(10 Feb 2011-31 Dec 2019) Research Associate in Statistics, Cittalia – ANCI Research Foundation, Rome, Italy.

Head: Dr Monia Giovannetti (CITTALIA, Studies and Research Department).

www.cittalia.it/homepage/cittalia-anci-foundation/ - https://www.retesai.it/english/

Primary responsibilities:

- Data miner, manager and analyst;
- Investigating several immigration topics in Italy (e.g., social integration of immigrants' second generations, refugees, and asylum seekers; social integration of unaccompanied minors, and Roma people), female empowerment, urban security and planning (i.e., metropolitan areas, smart cities), and social policy evaluation; working jointly with and for the Central Service of SPRAR/Siproimi system.

Education

(2021- exp. 2024) PhD in School of Statistical Sciences, curriculum of Demography, XXXVII cycle, Department of Statistical Sciences, Sapienza University of Rome (Italy).

Research project: New fatherhood in Italy: from the gender issue to the family issue. Gender literature in the economic and social domains has traditionally focused on women's difficulties in the working environment due to known constraints related to unpaid work (childcare and household chores), exacerbated by the COVID-19 health emergency. Traditionally, fathers have always remained on the family caring margins, either because they tend to be the first income earners and therefore devoted to career and work success or because they are forced by prejudice and discrimination not to contribute to unpaid work. Because of this social segregation in paid and unpaid work, gender policies remain focused on women and mothers, neglecting the involvement of men and fathers in achieving greater equality. In recent years, however, new forms of male parenting are also emerging in Italy, i.e., fathers who reject the male breadwinner stereotype and claim an active and equal role with mothers in family care. This study aims to explore the socio-demographics of the "new" fathers: it seeks to investigate their difficulties, resources and challenges in the work and social contexts, providing information and contributions to research on the reduction of gender inequalities in Italy.
